Whitney Houston

Pop diva Whitney Houston was an American music icon. People called her the “Prom Queen of Soul.”

Whitney Houston was destined for superstardom. Her mother was gospel singer Cissy Houston, her godmother was Aretha Franklin, and her cousin was Dionne Warwick. When record producer Clive Davis saw Whitney singing in a nightclub, he signed her on the spot and became her lifelong mentor. Whitney had the look of a fashion model and the voice of a superstar.

Houston won over 400 music awards during her career. She was 22 when “Saving All My Love For You” became a No. 1 hit. Her most successful hit was a 1993 cover of Dolly Parton's country song “I Will Always Love You.” This song remains America's best-selling single by a female artist. Her other famous hits include “I Wanna Dance With Somebody” and “Greatest Love of All.”

In 1992, Whitney Houston married R&B singer Bobby Brown. Music fans were fascinated by this matchup. She was the “girl-next-door” and he was the “bad boy.” The couple had a daughter named Bobbi Kristina a year later. In the late 90s, rumors of drug use and domestic abuse surrounded the couple. The stormy marriage ended in 2006.

In addition to her music career, Whitney Houston appeared in hit films, such as The Bodyguard and Waiting to Exhale. It was Whitney Houston's bodyguard who discovered her body in a hotel room bathtub on February 11, 2012. She was 48 years old when she died. Her voice will never be forgotten.
